Young people receive practical advice and workshops from experts and celebrities on how to get into the fashion, media, music, theatre and business industries

ALL HANDS ON DECKS

HACKNEY stars Leona Lewis and Labrinth were on hand to answer young residents' questions at the launch of BBC Radio 1 and 1Xtra's Academy.

The three-week educational programme, which opened on 1 June and runs until 22 June, offers free practical workshops and Q&A sessions with celebrities and industry specialists at Hackney Picturehouse on Mare Street.

The day kicked off with Building a Beat – a workshop run by professional producers and songwriters supported by Rising Tide, a Hackney-based youth provision music charity for 13 to 25-year-olds. Youngsters learnt how to build a beat and create their own track using the latest music industry programmes.

The workshop was followed by Take it On – a Q&A session with Leona and Labrinth who were greeted by cheers and whoops of excitement from the audience. Questions were fired at the pair about what inspires them, how they battle their nerves and their life in the music industry.

Both artists spoke of their musical journey and gave advice about how they achieved their success. Labrinth said: "I always knew what I wanted to do – I kept that tunnel vision and never lost sight of achieving my dream. It's the passion that takes you to where you want to be." Leona added: "I was bullied at school and music focused me and helped me to escape. I gave 100 per cent and never gave up."

Inspired by the stars, audience members wrote down what they hoped to achieve in life. Messages written on the wall included 'I want to become an inspiration to young people', and 'the sky is not the limit, you are.'

Resident Tiffany Sika-Dufie, 15, who attended the launch, said: "It was fantastic to learn about the artists and the industry and how they have remained true to themselves."

The content for the Academy's programme was driven by a steering group of 12 young people from the borough, including rap artist Shivz Dotz, 21. He said: "The steering group acted as the voice of Hackney, to talk about what's hot, what's not and what would appeal and inspire people like me."

Trevor Nelson, Radio 1Xtra DJ who also grew up in Hackney, added: "This is a programme for you to meet people you might aspire to be, or meet people in an industry you aspire to work in."

The Academy was launched for the run-up to the Radio 1 Hackney Weekend two-day music festival, which will see 100,000 people enjoying headline acts such as Rihanna and Jay-Z at Hackney Marshes on 23 and 24 June.

Flock to visit 2012 mosaics

Feeling sheepish? Two new mosaics depicting life in Hackney have been unveiled in Shepherdess Walk, N1; Nicola O'Grady, Tessa Hunkin, Ken Edwards and Jeanette Britton in front of one of the mosaics (inset)

TWO mosaics commemorating the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games have been unveiled in Shepherdess Walk, N1.

The mosaics, which transformed a once disused area owned by the Council, are made up of around 216,000 tiles, took over 100 people to make and eight months to complete.

They will leave a record of people's lives for future generations – just as those in ancient civilisations did. Embedded in the designs are mobile phones, frisbees, skateboards and other modern paraphernalia.

For two days a week, from a shop in Murray Grove, N1, a core group of around 28 people recovering from drug or alcohol problems worked with mosaicist Tessa Hunkin on the artwork through her History in the Making project. Residents also supported the scheme.

> "Coming to the mosaic group has... given me a feeling of doing something worthwhile"

Tessa said: "The team have surpassed all my expectations – they worked with such dedication and ability, and I think everyone enjoyed the satisfying process of creating such a large artwork."

Cllr Jonathan McShane, Cabinet Member for Health, Social Care and Culture, added: "The mosaic is amazing and will tell the story of Hackney in 2012 for years to come. This innovative project shows just what a powerful thing art can be in bringing communities together and providing real benefits for people who need our help and support."

Research in the field of substance misuse indicates that hands-on participation in making an artwork provides a range of benefits including learning skills, meeting people and feeling part of a community.

Nicola O'Grady, who received support from substance misuse charity Lifelife, said: "It gives me a feeling of accomplishment and belonging that I haven't had for a long time. I also have something to be proud of that I can share with my friends and family."

Mark Denney also got support from Lifelife. He added: "Coming to the mosaic group has given me the opportunity to socialise. It's given me a feeling of doing something worthwhile and now I have more structure to my week."

The project is supported by the Council's Drug and Alcohol Action Team in partnership with the Cultural Development team and Lifeline. Much of the funding came from section 106 contributions to Hackney – money from developers that pay for regeneration and community projects.

Local talent Rudimental (inset) outside Hackney Empire to promote Hackney vs Harlem

HOMEGROWN chart toppers Rudimental are to judge a talent show at Hackney Empire – with a prize that includes performing at one of the most famous music halls in the US.

Hackney's Rudimental hit number one in the iTunes UK chart, and a top 10 place in the national charts, in May with drum and bass smash hit 'Feel the Love'. The quartet is now looking to support emerging Hackney artists in a transatlantic talent search.

On 8 June four will be chosen to represent the UK for the grand final of Hackney vs Harlem.

The following month, on 14 July, local finalists will compete with young contestants from Harlem's Apollo Theatre. Other prizes include coaching from the Rudimental members and performing a set in the New York music hall.

The band takes a keen interest in working with young people. Member Piers Agget was reported to have said: "It's close to our hearts, we were like these kids."

News in brief

Trainee Rio turns his hand to painting

Apprentice scheme success

TWENTY-three apprentices, four graduates and eight trainees have been recruited during the first year of Hackney's National Skills Academy for Construction project.

The project offers local apprentices and young people on-site construction training and vacancy-hunting support. It partners new entrants to the industry with contractors so the right skills are developed for the job. The project has also provided 38 work experience placements, enrolled 26 operatives on NVQs and delivered school engagement activities to more than 250 students.

Resident Rio Alfonso, 24, was unemployed for eight months before coming on to the programme. He got help with his CV and last November was successful in an application to be a trainee operative with contractor Lakehouse. Rio, who is also completing an NVQ Level 3 in customer service, said: "Getting this job has built up my confidence and now I have been given more responsibilities. I have been doing a lot of training that will also help me progress."

Rebecca Nadarajah, project skills co-ordinator, added it 'will provide much needed on-site training to help bring new blood into the industry'.

The project is managed by Hackney Homes on behalf of the Council in partnership with CITB-Construction Skills and contractors Mulalley, Lakehouse and Mansell.

Duchess goes green

THE Duchess of Cornwall toured public gardens in Shoreditch and Dalston as part of a horticulture festival that plants the Chelsea Flower Show across London.

With an anything goes approach, subsidiary festival Chelsea Fringe shows off the capital's community garden projects to out-there, avant garde art installations. Her Royal Highness met staff, volunteers and school children at Spitalfields City Farm, St Leonard's Church, Dalston Eastern Curve Garden and the Geffrye Museum (pictured, right) on 30 May.

> "It was a nice circle for us as Prince Charles came here in 1998 when a lot of the garden was new"

Nancy Loader of Geffrye Museum said: "The Duchess toured our garden and saw some of the community events and installations we have. Youngsters from Morningside Children's Centre and local artists had decorated a giant tea set so she spoke them about that. She also chatted to the Asian women and writers group.

"It was nice circle for us as Prince Charles came here in 1998 when a lot of the garden was new and just being set up and she got to see it today. She said she especially liked the period gardens, which looked even better as the sun shone throughout."

The Chelsea Fringe Show continues until 10 June at various venues across London.

Pupils from 17 of the borough's primary schools took part in the Council's Bike Around the Borough ride on 24 May

The young cyclists used main roads, which made them realise how easy, healthy and fun it is to travel safely around the borough by bicycle; Cllr Feryal Demirci (above) enjoys the cycle ride

Tour de Hackney

MORE than 240 schoolchildren enjoyed the sunshine and great outdoors as they took part in a mass bike ride across Hackney.

Bike Around the Borough (24 May), organised by the Council and supported by the Metropolitan Police, saw youngsters from 17 of the borough's primary schools taking part alongside teachers and cycling instructors. It built on the success of last year's event, which celebrated the launch of the 2012 Hackney Parks Walking and Cycling route.

Starting at London Fields, this year's 8.8 mile circular route took in many of the borough's best known landmarks and green spaces, including Shoreditch, Clissold and Millfields parks.

The cyclists used main roads, practicing the skills developed through national standards cycle training. The aim was to help pupils realise how easy it is to travel safely around the borough by bike.

Zak, a year six pupil from Tyssen Community Primary School, said: "I learnt cycling is as healthy as walking and that cycling is fun!"

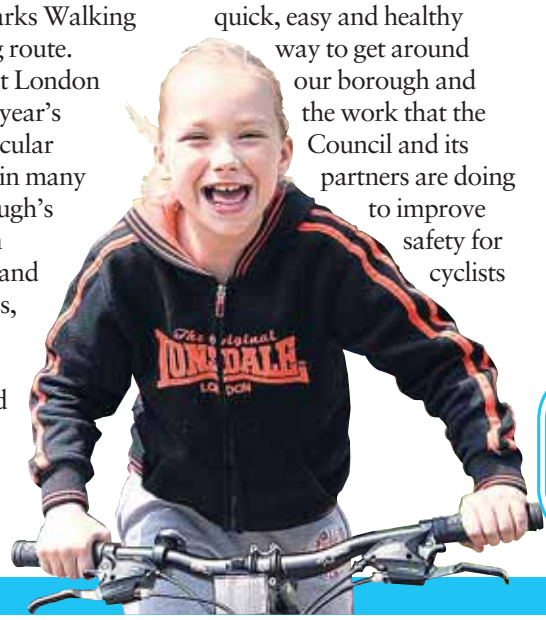

Cllr Feryal Demirci, Cabinet Member for Neighbourhoods, added: "It was great to see so many young people taking part in this event. Cycling is a quick, easy and healthy way to get around our borough and the work that the Council and its partners are doing to improve safety for cyclists means that more residents are choosing this as their main form of transport. Giving children the confidence to cycle safely will hopefully mean that they too become cyclists."

Bikes pile up during a rest on pupils' 8.8 mile cycle across the borough

This sentiment was echoed by event marshal Carmen from Jubilee Primary School. She said: "This event has shown the children that cycling is not only great fun in the park but is a viable option for getting around, which might not have been something they had considered before."

Hackney has been recognised nationally for its innovative approaches in encouraging cycling. Initiatives such as free training for children and adults, 20 mile per hour limits on all Council-controlled residential roads and awareness training for HGV drivers mean that the borough has the highest rates of cycling amongst residents in the capital.

ON THE GO?

Games Maker Paul King; Welcome to Hackney volunteer Shamsideen Owo; Young Games Maker Fatou Mbowe

Celebrating volunteers

AROUND 300 Hackney volunteers are preparing to welcome visitors to the borough this summer.

The primed volunteers will liaise with artists and stewards and help direct revellers during the borough's upcoming music and cultural events, including BBC Radio 1 Hackney Weekend, One Hackney Festival and the Olympic torch relay.

Last month, Welcome to Hackney recruits took part in induction sessions, helping them draw on their own inherent knowledge of the borough and giving them the basic tools to become successful borough ambassadors.

> "I love volunteering because of the experiences I've had and have really been enjoying it so far"

Shamsideen Owo, 76, is one of the oldest that enlisted. The retired library assistant has lived in Hackney for over 30 years after arriving from Nigeria in 1974. He said: "I volunteered because I want to be part of this occasion as it would be a lifetime achievement for me, and I want to be a good ambassador for my community and for Hackney."

Other residents have put themselves forward as volunteers around the Olympic Park. Named Games Makers, they will take on a wide variety of roles across the Olympic venues: from transporting athletes to making sure the results get displayed quickly and accurately.

Young Games Maker and resident Fatou Mbowe, 17, described the training experience as 'fascinating'. She said: "I love volunteering because of the experiences I've had – and have really been enjoying it so far."

Resident and volunteer Rose Nwoosu, 17, added: "One of the highlights was the role plays. We had to compete against loads of other groups in tasks such as building the tallest tower – to test our teamworking skills – and a role play to demonstrate our communication skills."

Additionally, vulnerable person charity Outward has also put forward resident Paul King as a Games Maker to help him continue his volunteering and employment experience.

Parking during the Games

THE London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games (LOCOG) has been working closely with Hackney Council to ensure the right traffic and parking plans are in place by the time the borough gets busy with the Games.

Temporary parking plans are being introduced in Hackney and other host boroughs to help manage the increase in traffic and protect residents and businesses from extra demand for parking. These parking restrictions will be in place between 21 June and 9 September.

Residents can contact LOCOG to check if a permit is needed, to see if a vehicle is already registered and for visitor permits.

Full details of the changes, and LOCOG's parking information packs, can be found on the London 2012 website. For more info, call: 030 0111 2012; or: 030 0777 2012 or visit: www.london2012.com/local-residents

Museum's 10 year anniversary

HACKNEY Museum is celebrating its 10 year anniversary with a launch of a major community-led exhibition.

Mapping the Change has been recording the changes to East London lives in the run up to the capital's Olympic and Paralympic Games since 2008. More than 5,000 voices from Hackney's diverse communities helped produce photographic, digital, film, written and audio based records of how London 2012 has affected them.

The £253,000 Heritage Lottery Fund-financed project has already seen a range of activities take place in the borough including oral histories, photo competitions, journalism courses, art workshops, history walks and talks and other extended exhibitions.

The Council-run Hackney Museum and Hackney Central Library have been very popular since opening a decade ago. The museum has hosted more than 50 exhibitions, covering subjects such as slavery, healthcare and the life stories of Hackney's ancestors. Hackney Central Library has hosted events including talks by BBC journalist George Alagiah.

Cllr Jonathan McShane, Cabinet Member for Health, Social Care and Culture, said: "This past decade has seen Hackney Museum and Hackney Central Library deliver many challenging and thought provoking events, exhibitions and educational programmes, as well as providing excellent learning resources for the local community."

Entry to the Mapping the Change exhibition is free and will run until 15 September. For more info, call: 020 8356 3500; or visit: www.hackney.co.uk/museum

TWO junior weightlifting national medal winners with dreams of competing at Rio 2016 are among the latest to receive the Council's Youth Sport Fund.

Gifted competitors Kim Pham, and Omarie Mears, both 18, have excelled at their sport: Kim is the reigning British juniors champion (58kg) and fourth in the over 18s; Omarie is second in the British under-18s championship (69kg).

Now, the duo are receiving the Council grant, which has awarded £90,000 to young athletes to date, to help fund their continuing progression from the school gym to the national arena.

The talented pair have competed in the London Youth Games over the past three years, helping Hackney to lift the weightlifting title twice.

Kim said: "It's relieving to know that I have support from Hackney Youth Sport Fund because it helps ease the financial pressure."

> "It feels good to get support to excel in my chosen sport, without the funding I don't think I would be where I am"

Omarie added: "It feels good to get support to excel in my chosen sport, without the funding I don't think I would be where I am now."

Omarie is set to be a Junior Games Maker at the London 2012 Paralympic weightlifting event, while Kim is carrying the Olympic torch through Islington.

The pair learned their trade at Cardinal Pole Catholic School, which has laid the foundations to help young people achieve in sport.

Jules Pipe, Mayor of Hackney, who presented the awards, said: "I'm proud the Council has been able to support Kim and Omarie so they can continue their sporting dreams.

"There are many talented youngsters in Hackney who deserve a helping hand and our Youth Sports Fund can help."

Six other talented young people are also receiving support – and as an added bonus they have also been given a ticket to an Olympic event at the 2012 Games.

The lucky youngsters are mountaineer Jim Pope, 13, sailor Grace Bradley-Shankar, 13 and tennis player Savannah Sills, 15, all from Stoke Newington School; diver Ford Fagan, 11, Haggerston School; sprinter Dorica Santos, 15, Mossbourne Academy; and cyclist Bart Wallbank, 16.

The Youth Sports Fund provides assistance to talented young athletes who are committed to becoming the best they can be in their chosen sport. Support of up to £500 is available on an annual basis.

Anyone who gets a Gold or Silver award also receives a fully paid or half price membership respectively at one of the borough leisure centres courtesy of Greenwich Leisure Limited (GLL), the social enterprise managing the Council's six leisure centres.

Young people and community groups can apply for funding through the Youth Sports Fund by filling in an application form at: www.hackney.gov.uk/c-sports-grants

Pupils from across the borough competed against their own top times at the Personal Bests finals

PUPILS from Kingsmead Primary School, E9, took home the spoils of victory at the biggest ever Personal Bests finals at Hackney Marshes on 29 May.

They were presented with a trophy, medals and tickets to the Olympic Games at a ceremony attended by 2012 mascots Wenlock and Mandeville and Paralympian swimmer Dervis Konuralp. Woodberry Down Primary School took the runners up place and Harrington Hill came in third.

The 2012 Games-inspired education, health and wellbeing project saw teams and individuals compete against their own personal best times in long jump, triple jump, javelin, shot put, discus, speed bounce and the Paralympic sport Boccia. Points were awarded for each personal best achieved.

Bests achieved.

Virginia Biss, a teacher from Tyssen School, enjoyed the atmosphere at the event and was pleased with her school’s performance. She said: “They’re loving it. They’re having a brilliant time and they all got personal bests for the sprint.”

Cllr Guy Nicholson, Cabinet Member for Regeneration and the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games, presented the awards to the youngsters. He said: “I’m proud that Hackney has developed such a fantastic pioneering educational project and whilst I congratulate the finalists and winners, I know that thousands of young people have also learned so much and achieved their own personal goals.”

Hackney’s own swimming champion, Dervis Konuralp, opened the award ceremony with a surprise appearance of the Paralympic torch.

He said: “I’m extremely proud of what Hackney has achieved – 693 finalists here today – the most ever in the borough. It’s testimony to the schools believing in the programme and wanting to take part in it. Enjoy the Games, watch it, think of yourself as being part of it.”

The event also saw the first ever performance of the ‘Hacknee’ dance. The dance has been produced as part of the One Hackney Festival to welcome the Olympic torch to Hackney on 21 July.

Personal Bests is Hackney’s established sport and healthy lifestyles programme aimed at nine to 11-year-olds.

It is currently running in more than 50 primary schools, including faith and special, and this year has involved 3,000 children.

Hackney

Hackney is one of the most diverse places in the UK. In this regular feature, we profile the borough's great & good or just plain interesting

'It's going to be wicked!'

LEONA Lewis is even more beautiful in real life than she is on screen. With a glossy mane of hair, perfectly manicured nails and impeccable make-up, the Hackney singer could make any girl feel intimidated. But she's so nice I find myself unashamedly bonding with the former X Factor winner over being a fellow geek.

"People are sometimes afraid to be individuals because they feel like they can't speak up as people will criticise them and they'll become an outcast," she says. "I know what it's like – I was a geek at school. Being an individual and having your voice heard is scary. I feel like we need to pinpoint these kids, shine a light on them and engage them and praise them for being brave and stepping out and not going with the grain."

Leona is taking her role as an ambassador for the BBC Radio 1 and 1Xtra Academy seriously. The Ivor Novello award-winner is one of a number of artists involved in the three-week project aimed at working with teenagers in the borough in the run up to the Hackney Weekend on 23 and 24 June.

She says: "As an ambassador I've taken on the part as role model. I'm lucky – my upbringing here was really positive and I feel like a lot of people in this area don't get that attention. I got to do classes outside of school, which really helped me with my music. That's why I'm involved – I want to impart my knowledge and hopefully inspire people."

The Academy, which opened on 1 June, is based at the Hackney Picturehouse. It aims to give 10,000 young people in the area the chance to work, and be inspired by, leading people in the entertainment and business industries.

"I hope this whole experience has a positive effect on Hackney's young people," says Leona. "For me, personally, I think it'll be good to have more programmes for young people to get involved in. Things that are free, you know? It's good to give young people the knowledge and inspiration for them to feel they're part of the whole experience."

Leona hopes the outreach programme has tangible results, but admits it won't be easy. She says: "There's only so much you can do – there's a certain point when you go out into the world on your own and hopefully this programme will have made a positive effect and you can put it into action then, but you can't physically make people do something – they have to want to do it for themselves by themselves."

The three-week outreach programme will culminate in the two-day festival at Hackney Marshes, with the biggest line-up Radio 1 has ever seen, to be opened by Leona. "It's going to be wicked," she gushes. "I'm a bit nervous as all my family and friends are going to be there, but I think it's an honour to be able to open it as an ambassador. There's a lot of pressure, the Marshes is properly close to home. It's huge."

Despite the fact Leona is an international superstar, she still considers Hackney 'home'. She says: "I love travelling and it's a blessing to be able to experience the different cultures and places, but I'm definitely grounded here because my family and friends are here. Home is where the heart is at the end of the day.

"I don't think anywhere that I've been to in the world is as multicultural as Hackney," she continues. "But Hackney has changed. Never before could I imagine my friends going to Dalston for a night out – that didn't used to happen – and now it's so trendy! I'm like 'great' because it's on my doorstep and I don't have to trek west!"

Curriculum Vitae: Leona Lewis

1985	Born in Islington, London
1990	Attends the Sylvia Young Theatre School
2006	Wins The X-Factor UK Christmas number 1 with 'A Moment Like This'

THE GREEN GENIE

All your green questions answered

Q: As a dog owner, I want to do my bit and clean up when my dog fouls on the pavement or in the park, but I'm never sure what to do with the bags. Are there any bins in Hackney that I can use?

A: There are some old dog poo bins in Hackney, but the Council stopped providing bins exclusively for dog waste some time ago. Since 1991 dog waste has been classified as general litter and can be accepted in any one of the Council's 1,600 bins (although it should not be placed in with waste for recycling). You can also take the bags home and put them in the bin with your household waste. Responsible dog owners should always clean up after their pets as animal waste can be harmful – especially to small children – and it generally makes Hackney unpleasant for others. If you are witnessed allowing a dog under your control to foul in a public place, and you do not clean it up, you can be handed an on the spot fine of up to £80 (and might have to pay up to £1,000 if taken to court).

Flying the Green Flag

WENTWORTH Nursery School and Children's Centre, E9, celebrated its annual green day on 29 May with the highest honour in environmental education – the Green Flag award.

Staff, pupils and their families worked for three years to attain the award, winning bronze in 2010, silver in 2011 and now the Green Flag award. It is only the second school in the borough to achieve this environmental accolade.

> "I am very proud of the progress Wentworth has made in environmental education"

Headteacher Carolyn Maples said: "It is another happy day of celebration. In March Wentworth won The Learning Trust educator award for most sustainable school, and now we have been awarded the Green Flag just in time for our annual green day. We are all dressed in green and flying the flag. I am very proud of the progress Wentworth has made in environmental education."

Staff and pupils at Wentworth Nursery School and Children's Centre recycle where possible; grow their own fruit and vegetables; compost; use water butts for watering plants; and aim to cycle to school, turn off lights and avoid dropping litter.

Kym Foley, the teacher who leads on eco matters, added: "I feel proud that the children, staff and parents have worked together to make Wentworth more sustainable."

Changes to borough's Games time waste collections

WASTE and recycling collections are set to start at 6am during the Olympic and Paralympic games to help crews beat the traffic.

Residents will need to make sure their waste and recycling is placed out either the night before their collection or before 6am to help keep streets clear.

Collection days will be unchanged during the Olympics (from 23 July to 14 August) and the Paralympics (27 August to 7 September).

Recycling will be collected in different vehicles that look similar to current refuse vehicles and taken to a facility for sorting. These measures, combined with extra staff helping during Games time will enable crews to complete their rounds each day and cut down on the number of vehicles on the borough's roads.

Cllr Feryal Demirci, Cabinet Member for Neighbourhoods, said: "Our crews will set off from their depots at 5.30am each morning during the Games, ready to start collecting waste and recycling at 6am.

"We are asking residents to work with us, to make sure their waste is placed out on time so we are able to clear all waste and recycling as quickly as possible.

"You may notice that your collection happens at a different time during the Games, but we will ensure that all waste and recycling is collected on your allotted day."

Get a taste for seasonal food

RESIDENTS are being offered the chance to sample local organic food – and find inspiration for cooking seasonal vegetables – at Hackney City Farm on 13 June.

The Seasonal Taster event is being run by Growing Communities at the pick up point for its organic fruit and vegetable box scheme. The seasonal taster gives customers the chance to try food made using fresh, seasonal ingredients from the box scheme and to take away recipe sheets explaining how to make great, affordable meals at home.

At previous seasonal tasters, one of the biggest hits has been beetroot hummus, made with beetroot from Ripple Farm in Kent. Other dishes have included kale pesto, swede and potato pasties and orange and carrot cake. And all could be washed down with chocolate mint tea, made with mint grown on one of Growing Communities' Patchwork Farm sites at the Hackney Tree Nursery.

Fiona McAllister, of Growing Communities, said: "We want to demonstrate just how versatile seasonal veg can be and give people ideas of delicious and affordable ways to prepare great, healthy meals.

"Food that has been flown in from halfway across the world is less fresh and much more damaging to the environment than local, seasonal fruit and veg. It's vital for communities to gather together to support those small local farmers who are growing food in sustainable ways."

News in brief

Council promotes wood builds

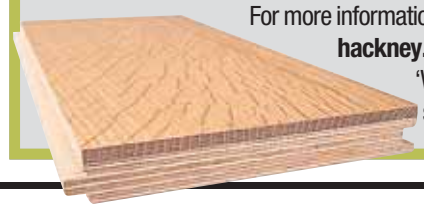

THE Council is set to be the first local authority in England to promote timber construction in its planning policy.

Last week the Council hosted a Wood First conference for architects, developers and planning officials from other local authorities to encourage the consideration of timber as a first choice building material. Wood for Good, a campaign to promote the suitability and sustainability of using wood in construction, sponsored the event which examined the benefits and limitations of building with timber as well as explaining its place within local and national planning policy.

Although the Council is keen to promote the benefits of building with wood, it is not considering a policy that would exclude locally sourced building materials or prevent the use of other sustainable building materials in future developments.

Cllr Guy Nicholson, Cabinet Member for Regeneration and the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games, said: "Timber construction is changing the face of sustainable development, with the industry increasingly recognising the aesthetic and environmental benefits of using wood in new developments."

For more information, email: planning@hackney.gov.uk and include 'Wood First' in the subject line.

Lovebox 2012

15-17 June, Victoria Park, Grove Road, E3

In case the Hackney summer had not already done enough to warm local hearts, one of East London's biggest summer parties will this year mark its 10th birthday with extra lashings of love and revelry.
Carrying on the tradition of landmark music festivals, Lovebox aims to mix idealism with diversity, inclusiveness and some of London's best dancefloors.

The 2012 line-up focuses the festival's distinct musical and cultural direction with 10 separate stages brought to life over three days. Among favourites, Hot Chip and Gilles Peterson will open Lovebox 2012 on Friday night with party classics; Kelis, Groove Armada and Friendly Fires picking up the baton on Saturday. Multi Grammy award-winning music goddess Chaka Khan joins on Sunday cementing a decade of love. See the Lovebox competition on p16.

Competition

Win tickets to Lovebox 2012

Victoria Park continues its busy summer with Lovebox, a party in the park spanning three days over 15-17 June. This year, festival goers will be treated to a star-studded line-up for the 10th year running. Friday offers hipsters Crystal Castles and Magnetic Man, while Saturday features Friendly Fires, Kelis and festival favourites Groove Armada. To close in style, Sunday night really brings on the party with rare appearances from soul and disco legends Grace Jones and Nile Rogers of Chic.
Lovebox follows a tried and tested method of mixing the cool crowd pleasers with pop-cult legends; there's something for everyone on each day, which gives Lovebox an inclusive feel only experienced by other festival giants like Glastonbury.
Also expect treats for the foodies or the just plain hungry, international DJs, and of course, the banging after parties.
Ticket prices start at £29, with VIP entry also available. For more info, visit www.lovebox.net

Hackney Today is giving away a pair of tickets to the festival. For a chance to win, send your entry to Lovebox Competition, Hackney Today, Room 82, Hackney Town Hall, Mare Street. E8 1EA; or email htnews@hackney.gov.uk by 12pm on 11 June. Submissions must include an address and contact number. Entry day to festival to be confirmed.

Match and Fuse Festival

Vortex Jazz Bar and Gillett Square, N16
15-16 June

A NEW free festival is to hit Hackney's unofficial jazz quarter later this month. The ever-enthusiastic borough-based jazz quintet WorldService Project is launching Match&Fuse Festival in Gillett Square over two days in June. Pulling together 13 jazz bands from across eight European countries, the group has also been working with Hackney schools that will perform on stage and already has eyes on taking the festival to Rome and Oslo over the next two years. Performing at Vortex Jazz Club include Italian three-piece band Neo, which plays progressive avant-punk jazz with explosive energy; drum and bass mixed with complex African rhythms from Polish group Owls Are Not (What They Seem); synth-funk by Tubax; catchy melodies and grooves by RedivideR; prog-rock and jazz by SynKoke; and 'sarcastic perspective on life' from Spain's Les Rauchen Verboten. Led by keyboardist Dave Morecroft, WorldService Project delight in drawing on jazz, funk, improvisation, punk and contemporary classical musical. This new festival was part funded by the Arts Council and PRS for Music Foundation.

Students from Hackney Community College worked with Hackney police to create a training video

Good cop, bad cop

POLICE recruits could get improved insights when helping crime victims following the production of a training video by Hackney Community College (HCC) students.

Hackney police contacted the college to create a short film showing victim experiences of officers, from reporting a crime to the final outcome. The aim was to demonstrate to new police officers how their actions can affect the lives of the victim, family and communities.

> "Not only has this venture given me a chance to work with these young people, it has strengthened our partnership"

Using a real life case study, the BTEC Creative Media students reconstructed a set of interviews wherein actors gave their perceptions of police treatment.

PC Pam Horgan, who gave the brief, commended the students. She said: "Not only has this venture given me a chance to work with these young people, it has strengthened our partnership with the college. The film is of great quality and will be an excellent training tool for new police recruits to Hackney."

Anna Johnson, HCC media co-ordinator, added: "This is the start of a new partnership, working together, creating resources within the community. It was also positive for the students to work with the police on this project, proving really valuable for challenging stereotypes."

Good Lord – peer and pupil participation

A MEMBER of the House of Lords visited Clapton Girls' Academy last month to help encourage youth engagement in political processes.

Lord Mawson met with a group of history, politics and law students to talk about the role of the House of Lords and answer questions about Westminster life.

Teacher Annette Lynch said: "This was a fantastic opportunity for our students to interact with someone who knows the parliamentary system inside out, as it can sometimes seem far removed from their daily lives."

Lord Mawson founded a healthy living community centre in East London and is an advocate of social entrepreneurship.

The 18 May visit was arranged through the Lord Speaker's 'Peers in Schools' outreach programme, which sends members of the Lords into schools and colleges across the country to give talks in support of the citizenship curriculum. For more information, visit: www.parliament.uk/lordspeaker

Latin fever: a dance show hit

PRINCESS May School welcomed parents and friends for a Latin dance show ahead of its end of year carnival.

The 18 May event gave pupils the opportunity to perform a dance routine and show of their skill and techniques to the audience.

Teaching Assistant Kay Sallem said: "Our objective is that through dance we can encourage togetherness, unearth talent and build confidence with a fun activity."

Every year the school hosts a carnival that encourages pupils to consider different cultures. The next carnival will take place from 12noon on 6 July. For more info, call the school on: 020 7254 1589

Thank you for not smoking

A CLISSOLD Park School video that charts the fall from grace of a promising young footballer has been highly commended in a national anti-smoking film contest.

Competition Cut Films asked young people across the country to research the dangers of smoking and create a film to communicate their ideas.

The N16 pupil referral unit centre produced a short following 13-year-old student – and real life Arsenal FC youth team player – Denilson who misses out on a career in the Premier League after taking up smoking.

'Champions Don't Smoke' was a particular favourite for the younger judges on the Cut Films panel, which awarded the school the 'highly recommended' honour.

Clissold Park teacher Patricia Davies said: "It came together as part of a wider drugs awareness project we worked on. Also one of the main aims was to show what our students, some of which had been excluded from mainstream schools, can do."

According to The Deborah Hutton Campaign, which runs Cut Films, two-thirds of smokers start smoking before the age of 18, and in England alone 150,000 young people aged 11 to 15 are regular smokers. The cost of smoking to the NHS in Hackney is £14.3 million.

Sakinah; Princess Anne; Sakinah with her mum

Sixty seconds with Sakinah

SAKINAH Muhammad marked her 15th birthday by travelling to Olympia, Greece, to pick up the Olympic flame on 18 May. As just one of only five young people chosen with a host of public figures, the BTEC sports student recounts the experience.

Did you expect to be chosen to collect the flame in Greece?

My mum came into the school and was told by the headteacher. She then told me. At first I thought she was joking, then it sank in and I couldn't believe it.

What did this opportunity mean to you?

The attention has been overwhelming. I never imagined the amount of interviews that I would have to do. But I am honoured and very grateful to have been chosen.

> "Sport not only helps you stay fit, but you get to meet people, build friendships and it also helps to build your confidence"

What was it like going to Greece and being with the likes of David Beckham?

It all seemed like a dream. I only started to believe it was real when I met and spoke to the other selected students. It was great meeting and sharing this experience with them. David asked us about the sports we did and basically told us to enjoy the moment. I was very excited to meet him.

How important is sport in your life?

Sport has given me so many opportunities. I get to represent Clapton Girls' Academy and I have competed for Hackney in the London Youth Games in Athletics.

How would you encourage young people to keep fit and remain healthy?

Many think that sport is boring, but it isn't. I would suggest that they find a sport they enjoy by trying a few to see what they like best and then sticking to it. There are so many sporting groups in the borough and many are free so it should be easy to join a group. Sport not only helps you stay fit, but you get to meet people, build friendships and it helps build your confidence.

Arcola Theatre play strikes the right balance

AN Arcola Theatre play is tackling a topic not usually associated with young people's theatre – coming to terms with the death of a grandparent.

'Walking The Tightrope' is set in an English seaside town, wherein Stan and his granddaughter Esme are dealing with a family member passing away. It is produced by the Dalston theatre, which has a youth programme aimed to combine entertainment with discussions about relevant big topics.

The play was written by Mike Kenny, who last year won the Olivier prize for best entertainment for his adaptation of 'The Railway Children'.

'Walking The Tightrope' runs from 5 to 16 June at Arcola Theatre, E8 3DL. For more, call: 020 7503 1646; or visit: www.arcolatheatre.com

Time for some straight talking

JOBS, youth activities and the effect of the Olympics are among the topics to be debated in an online topical show that grills local public figures.

Panel show Strait Talk Live is giving young people the opportunity to fire questions from the audience to Jules Pipe, Mayor of Hackney, Police Borough Commander Matthew Horne and Male Development Service founder Melvyn Davis. This 6 June event will also be streamed live allowing internet viewers to post their comments and have them fed into the debate. Other topics to be discussed include gang culture, stop and search and what has happened in Hackney since last year's riots.

Presented by Dickon Tolson, the debate is organised by Youth Skills Network with support from Hackney Council for Voluntary Service (HCVS) and the Council. Strait Talk Live takes place at Tomlinson Centre, Queensbridge Road, London, E8 3ND on 6 June, 6.30-7.30pm. To join the live studio audience or for more info, visit: www.ysn.org.uk/straittalk

Celebrating different cultures

ST Mary's Primary School pupils were treated to a Hackney Community College (HCC) fun day to celebrate the different cultures coming to London this summer.

Seven HCC students aimed to get young pupils excited about the countries visiting the capital for London 2012. Creating workshops that focused on six continents, they invited 60 primary school children to take part in activities that ranged from pizza making to a 'kangaroo jump' contest. The students also arranged for 1972 and 1976 Olympic swimmer Brian Brinkley to talk about competing at the highest level.

Henk Griffith, 20, who studies BTEC IT at the college, helped to organise the 18 May event. He said: "We want the kids to take away a feeling of community and Olympic spirit with them. I'm really proud of Hackney as a community and hope that after enjoying the day the pupils will remember what it has been about and be proud of the area they live in."

The students were supported by EDF Energy's Legacy Champions programme, which helps young people develop London 2012-inspired community projects with charity Envision.

Core Arts provided the entertainment at the Wish You Were Well opening event at St Mary's Secret Garden

Secret Garden keeps growing

ST Mary's Secret Garden announced it secured further funding for its Hoxton green space for people living with mental health issues.

Last year, the charity received £20,000 to create a new community garden, Wish You Well, which officially launched on 26 May. Shoreditch Spa and Healing Tent served food and massages at the opening event, and Core Arts provided entertainment.

St Mary's has received an additional £9,948 from mental health charity Mind to continue helping people who have experienced mental health problems get involved in green activities. According to the charity, supervised programmes of exercise can be as effective as anti-depressants in treating mild depression.

Catherine Birkett from the team said the social enterprise was pleased to receive the funding. She added: "The Wish You Well garden has changed and developed over the last year and is now a relaxed and inspiring part of St Mary's Secret Garden."

Features of Wish You Well garden include a plant and gravel section, turf mounds and decking that doubles up as a stage.

Get involved in Carers Week

ORGANISATIONS in the borough are preparing to show their support for carers ahead of a national campaign this month.

Carers Week (18-24 June) focuses on the estimated 6million carers across the UK who support a relative or friend with a disability, illness or condition for free.

At St Joseph's Hospice, E8, carers can get an afternoon of pampering on 19 June, 12-4pm; and on 22 June, 6-9.30pm, they can sample foods from around the world with a background of musical performances. Booking is required by 15 June for both events.

Over in City and Hackney Mind, E9, an outdoor party will give a chance for carers to meet informally on 5 June, 12-4pm; then on 20 June, 6-9pm, singers, a steel band and string quartet will entertain, while there will be talks from speakers.

On 18 June, an information stall for carers will be set up at City and Hackney Centre for Mental Health near Homerton hospital between 12-2pm.

And at City and Hackney Carers Centre, E8, a laughter workshop, singing class, screening of a carers film and chair exercise workshop take place on 18 June, 10am-2.15pm.

The care provided by friends and family members to ill, frail or disabled relatives saves the country around £119billion every year, according to charity Carers UK.

Rachael Yearwood, at St Joseph's Hospice, said: "Carers do an extraordinary job looking after and supporting loved ones. These events provide them with the opportunity for some respite from their caring duties."

For info on St Joseph's Hospice, call: 020 8525 3140; for Mind, contact: 020 8985 4239; the City and Hackney Centre for Mental Health is on: 020 7655 4159; and for City and Hackney Carers Centre: 020 7923 8750.

People with disabilities gain confidence in using public transport

Public transport confidence booster

A NEW project is helping people with disabilities make the most of public transport in the borough.

The Able to Travel bus sessions are free workshops aimed at increasing confidence, independence and road safety skills of adults and young people with learning difficulties when using public transport. They also aim to give carers the confidence to allow the person they care for to travel independently.

At the 17 May launch, service users gained advice on alighting and leaving buses safety, protecting their travel support cards as well as how to identify a genuine ticket inspector. There was also information on what to do if approached by a stranger and encountering drunk or rowdy passengers. Service users ranged from those with mild to profound learning disabilities to having mobility problems.

Pauline McNichol, whose sister Beverly Witt is a wheelchair user, praised the sessions. She said: "Pauline has become less mobile and in the past I would carry her on to the bus. Having done this I now know that all buses have ramps so even if the driver doesn't put the ramp down, I know I can always ask."

The project is delivered by the Council, NHS, Hackney's Safer Transport team, Transport for London and Stagecoach Buses.

Jubilant times

As the country marks the 60th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth II's ascension to the throne, Hackney Archives looks back at past celebrations

HER Majesty Queen Elizabeth II is only the second British monarch to celebrate a diamond jubilee – the first being Queen Victoria in 1897.

The event, which was marked in Hackney at the time, is shown in the photograph on the left (2). The next big jubilee was in 1935 when George V and Queen Mary celebrated the 25th year of the king's reign. There are lots of photographs and documents from this time in Hackney Archives, which suggest that much celebrating took place, including local buildings being floodlit.

After 1935 there wasn't another jubilee until 1977, when Elizabeth II marked the 25th year (silver) of her reign and then the golden jubilee in 2002.

The Mayor and Councillors

Councillors are elected by Hackney residents and serve for four years. The last borough elections were in May 2010.

Councillors have a range of responsibilities, including helping to oversee the Council and its services.

They hold advice surgeries where residents can meet their local representative and ask them to take up issues that may be of concern.

Generally they can help with Council related matters, but if the issue is the responsibility of another person or organisation, councillors can often point people in the right direction and tell residents who they need to see.

Hackney has 57 councillors representing areas called wards – illustrated in the map opposite.

To check which councillor covers your area, or confirm surgery times, call: 020 8356 3373. More info: www.hackney.gov.uk/l-mayor-cabinet-councillors.htm

Recipes straight from the ovens at Hoxton Apprentice
www.hoxtonapprentice.com

KARIN discovered Hoxton Apprentice when she read 'Recipes straight from the ovens…' in Hackney Today, in the very same column she is featuring now. She was encouraged to apply when she found out that the restaurant offered training opportunities for anyone between 16 and 70-years-old. Karin recently joined Hoxton Apprentice restaurant as a volunteer with the aspiration to become an apprentice and learn how to work in a commercial kitchen. In the future she would like to establish her own catering business.

Asparagus Risotto

Serves 4

Preparation time
5 mins

Cooking time
30 mins

Ingredients
- 12 asparagus spears
- 1 onion finely chopped
- 1 garlic clove chopped finely
- 400g risotto rice (e.g. Arborio or Carnaroli)
- 250ml dry white wine
- Salt and pepper
- 500ml hot vegetable stock
- 3 tbsp olive oil
- 2 tbsp unsalted butter, divided
- 100g grated Parmesan cheese

Method
- Wash, then peel the asparagus trimming off the woody part of the stem
- Heat the olive oil and one tbsp of butter in a pan and gently fry the onion and garlic until softened, but not coloured, for about 2 minutes on a medium heat
- While the onions are cooking, bring the vegetable stock to a simmer in a saucepan
- Add the risotto rice and fry with onion for 2 more minutes, stirring until mixed
- Pour the white wine into the rice and simmer until absorbed
- Keeping back a small amount, add the hot vegetable stock one ladle at a time, stirring continuously until all the stock is absorbed into the rice. Keep on adding ladles of the stock until the rice is cooked and all the stock has been absorbed, but the rice is tender yet still firm to bite (approximately 20-25 minutes). Use more water to cook rice if needed
- When the rice is almost cooked, blanche the asparagus in the remaining stock for 2 minutes
- Add the cooked asparagus to the risotto and turn off the heat
- Gently stir in the Parmesan cheese and the remaining 1 tablespoon of butter.
- Add the salt and pepper to taste and serve it immediately.

The Hoxton Apprentice is a social enterprise set up to train unemployed Hackney people – both in the kitchen and front of house.
Six-month apprenticeships prepare people for the workplace and give them the chance to gain a NVQ in Hospitality.
Profits are returned to Training For Life, the charity which operates the restaurant, to deliver more training for unemployed people. If you would like to offer an apprentice a job, or become an apprentice yourself, call Ben Anderson on: 020 7749 2800.

Public Notice
Transport for London

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984
THE LONDON BOROUGH OF HACKNEY ROADS (TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC AND STOPPING AND REDUCTION OF SPEED LIMIT) ORDER 2012

1. Transport for London, having made an agreement with the London Borough of Hackney under section 101 of the Local Government Act 1972, hereby gives notice that it intends to make the above named Traffic Order under section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 for the purpose specified in paragraph 2. The effect of the Order is summarised in paragraph 3.

2. The purpose of the Order is to enable works to take place on the roads specified in paragraph 3 in the London Borough of Hackney.

3. The effect of the Order will be to:

(1) Prohibit any vehicle from entering, exiting, proceeding in, stopping on or exceeding a speed of 30 miles per hour on the following roads:

(a) A106 Ruckholt Road, between its junction with A12 East Cross Route and the boundary of the London Borough of Hackney and the London Borough of Waltham Forest;

(b) The unnamed slip road between A106 Ruckholt Road and A12 East Cross Route.

The Order will be effective at certain times from 12.01 AM on 22nd June 2012 until 11.59 PM on 31st October 2012 or when the works have been completed whichever is the sooner. The prohibitions and restrictions will apply only during such times and to such extent as shall from time to time be indicated by traffic signs. The works will be a rolling programme of minor works such as carriageway markings, and will be of a short duration at any given location. The works will take place mainly in two stages, implementation works probably in July and removal works probably in September. Work will take place overnight except when implementation considerations necessitate daytime working.

4. The prohibitions will not apply in respect of:

(1) any vehicle being used for the purposes of the works or for fire brigade, ambulance or police purposes;

(2) anything done with the permission or at the direction of a police constable in uniform or a person authorised by Transport for London.

5. At such times as the traffic prohibitions are in force alternative routes will be indicated, where appropriate, by traffic signs.

Dated this 4th day of June 2012

TRAFFIC

LONDON BOROUGH OF HACKNEY

THE HACKNEY (PARKING PLACES AND WAITING RESTRICTIONS) (VARIOUS ZONES) (EXPERIMENTAL) ORDER 2012 TT868

1. NOTICE is hereby given that on 1st June 2012, the London Borough of Hackney made an Experimental Traffic Order under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 ("the Act") and all other enabling powers.

2. The effect of the Experimental Traffic Order, will be to amend and extend the hours of operations for parking bays and single yellow lines restrictions to be between 8.00am and 9.00pm Monday to Sunday within the Hackney Parking Places Zones listed in Table 1 and will come into force on the dates specified in Column 3 to Table 1 to this notice.

Zone	Details	In force
Zone D	D(c) to retain existing end times other than on Sunday where times will be as stated in Article 3 to this Order	18/06/2012
Zone F	Any bay operating until 12 midnight to continue - with additional times for other days as stated in Article 3 to this Order	06/07/2012
Zone P	As per Article 3	25/06/2012
Zone L	As per Article 3	12/06/2012
Zone N	As per Article 3	06/06/2012
Zone J	As per Article 3	27/06/2012
Zone Q	As per Article 3	15/06/2012

3. Single yellow lines will operate in line with the times stated in Article 2 to this notice unless they are within bus lanes where they will operate between 7am and 9pm Monday to Sunday. Implementation will be as stated in Column 3 to Table 1 to this notice,

4. The reason for proceeding by way of an Experimental Traffic Order is to assess the effects of these time changes for a trial period before consideration is given to whether the provisions of the Experimental Traffic Order should be made permanent.

5. Plans of the proposed measures can be inspected during normal office hours on Mondays to Fridays inclusive until a period of 6 months from the date, on which this notice is published, in the reception area, London Borough of Hackney, Keltan House, 89-115 Mare Street, London, E8 4RU. Further information may be obtained by contacting Helpdesk on 020 8356 2897.

LONDON BOROUGH OF HACKNEY

THE HACKNEY (PARKING PLACES AND WAITING RESTRICTIONS) (ZONE K) (EXPERIMENTAL) ORDER 2012 TT869

1. NOTICE is hereby given that on 1st June 2012, the London Borough of Hackney made an Experimental Traffic Order under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 ("the Act") and all other enabling powers.

2. The effect of the Experimental Traffic Order, which comes into operation on 7th June 2012, will be to amend and extend the hours of operations for all parking bays and single yellow line restrictions within the Hackney Parking Places Zone K to be between 8.00am and 9.00pm Monday to Sunday, except for Disabled Badge Holders Bays.

3. The reason for proceeding by way of an Experimental Traffic Order is to assess the effects of these time changes for a trial period before consideration is given to whether the provisions of the Experimental Traffic Order should be made permanent.

4. Plans of the proposed measures can be inspected during normal office hours on Mondays to Fridays inclusive until a period of 6 months from the date, on which this notice is published, in the reception area, London Borough of Hackney, Keltan House, 89-115 Mare Street, London, E8 4RU. Further information may be obtained by contacting Helpdesk on 020 8356 2897.

5. The experimental provisions can continue in force for a maximum of 18 months trial period before a permanent Order is considered. Within a period of 6 months from the coming into operation of the Experimental Traffic Order any person may object to the making of a permanent Order. Any objection should be in writing, giving the grounds on which it is made and be addressed to the Assistant Director (Health and Community Services) at the address given in paragraph 4 above. Any comments in support of the Experimental Traffic Order are also invited during this period.

6. Any person wishing to question the validity of the Experimental Traffic Order or any of its provisions on the grounds that it is not within the powers of the relevant enabling Act or that a requirement of any such enabling Act or of any relevant regulations made there under has not been complied with may, within six weeks from the date on which the Experimental Traffic Order was made, make application for this purpose to the High Court.

This adoption statement has been prepared in accordance with Regulations 24(2)(4) and 36 of the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2004 and Amendment Regulations 2008, and gives notice that the London Borough of Hackney adopted its

Public Realm Supplementary Planning Document (SPD) on 26 February 2012

The Public Realm SPD forms part of the Hackney Local Development Framework (LDF) which will replace, in part, the Hackney Unitary Development Plan 1995. The LDF forms the basis for decisions on land use and spatial planning affecting Hackney for the period until 2025, and will comprise a number of DPDs and SPDs

The Public Realm Supplementary Planning Document sets out the spatial approach of the Borough to high quality public realm treatment that is responsive to its context, inclusive for all users and appropriate to its various functions.

The Public Realm Strategy was recommended for adoption by Hackney Council Cabinet on 27 February 2012 and published on 4 June 2012

Any person aggrieved by the Public Realm Supplementary Planning Document may make an application to the High Court under section 113 of the Planning & Compulsory Purchase Act 2004. Any challenge must be made on the grounds that:

a) the document is not within the appropriate power;

b) a procedural requirement has not been complied with.

Any such application must be made promptly and in any event not later than 6 weeks after the date on which the Public Realm Strategy was published, i.e 16 July 2012.

Printed copies of the Public Realm Supplementary Planning Document are available at: Hackney Service Centre, 1 Hillman Street, London E8 1DY. Ask for the Planning desk.
